Rural health center Winding Waters had an opportunity to make a big impact. Serving nearly 2,200 citizens in Enterprise, Oregon, the non-profit FQHC reached out to HealthChannels to help them make a difference. By alleviating documentation time, providers could focus on the many other hats they had to wear in a rural setting including home visits, ED shifts, and more.

Winding Waters' rural location poses unique challenges. Not only must providers take on multiple roles, but they also travel frequently between locations to treat patients. Speke Ambient AI was the perfect HealthChannels solution to support documentation for providers on the go. Once the team added Speke AI to their daily workflow the impact was immediate.
